AMONG THE MINERS.

No Settlement of the Strike in the DuBois District.

ROBINSON'S PROPOSAL REJECTED

At a Second Conference Which Followed He Stated He Had No Further Offer to Make—Miners Want the Altoona Scale.

THE TROUBLE IN BROAD TOP

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 8.—The session Monday of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers, was brief. An adjournment was taken until today when the real business of the session will be taken up.

President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson conferred Monday with Joseph E. Thropp, an operator of the Central Pennsylvania district, in regard to a strike in his mine, affecting about 225 men. No decision was reached, however.

Word was received Monday that the strike of the miners of L. W. Robinson in Pennsylvania is still unsettled and Barney Rice, the member of the board from the Second district, left for the east Monday night to assist in effecting a conciliation.

DuBois, April 8.—The district officers of the United Mine Workers and delegates from the mines of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron company Monday rejected the Indianapolis agreement reached last Friday by their national executive board and General Manager Robinson, of the Rochester and Pittsburg company. The conference Monday between the district officers, the delegates and Mr. Robinson took place at Punxsutawney, the first session being held in the morning, when Mr. Robinson submitted the Indianapolis agreement, as follows:

"Work to be resumed on the same basis of price for mining and day labor and conditions as existed at the beginning of the last scale year, except that at Eleanora the miners shall push cars one way in all rooms that are now or may hereafter be equipped with iron rails, otherwise, present conditions of mule haulage to continue; and at the Florence mines cars to be handled, after both mule and electric, by pushing one way except in such places now working and equipped for electric haulage. The present conditions of pushing cars to continue until such mules are exhausted or worn out, after which the cars during the present scale year will be hauled one way and pushed one way as customary after regular mule haulage."

This the miners refused to accept and another conference was held during the afternoon. Mr. Robinson stated he had no further offer to make. The miners refused absolutely to accept this agreement and insisted upon nothing less than the Altoona scale, which is in effect that mules must be placed in all mines where possible to haul cars. The conference, therefore, adjourned and the strike goes on with no immediate possibility of settlement.

A Narrow Escape from Death.

James McNerney of Lock Haven made a narrow escape from being burned alive Friday night in the Central hotel, Lock Haven. After he retired, Alex Agar, an attache of the hotel, went up stairs about 12 o'clock. Smelling smoke he proceeded to the room occupied by McNerney and going in he saw the matress in a blaze The flames were leaping towards the ceiling and McNerney was sound asleep.

Agar grabbed McNerney and pulled him out, which movement awakened the sleeping man. Agar without making any noise or giving an alarm, grabbed the burning mattress and flung it out of the window into the gutter on Grove street. He afterwards flung the bed clothing out and ran down and extinguished the flames with water.

Had Agar not made the discovery when he did, McNerney would undoubtedly have met his death and the flames would probably have gained such headway as to have destroped the building.

It is believed that the mattress caught fire from a cigar which McNerney had been smoking.—Lock Haven Democrat.

UNCLAIMED LETTER LIST.

The following letters remain in the Bellefonte Post Office uncalled for April 7st, 1902:

T. W. Gilroy, C. F. Hoffer, E. P. Shultz, Dewey Smith, Mary Whippo, W. H. Walker.

When called for please say advertised

W. W. MONTGOMERY, P. M.

Bellefonte Has Settled Down to Its Customary Quiet.

This city of the beautiful fount and seven hills has settled down once more to its usual placid life. The ministers have gone, and with them has gone the crowd. City reporters no longer look through Conference key-holes and then run for the telegraph office to flash the news that another batch of new charges has been brought against some poor parson.

The hotel clerks can now puff their cigars in peace and the price for a front room has dropped to normal, and the hotels are no longer thronged with debaters agitating the question of Swallow versus Hartzell, Hartzell versus Yocum, and Yocum versus Swallow, and Swallow versus Hill.

The police are no longer sleeping on arms, ready to be called forth to quell a riot caused by some over-zealous partisan preachers hurling avalanches of invective at each other and enterprising newspaper reporters.

The farmers are now resuming their harrowing avocations and bringing their wheat to mill, and the few surviving barn yard fowls have come forth from their hiding places to scratch again, for the war is over.

The ministerial brethren are no longer on "committees of inquiry," "investigating committees," "trial committees." They no longer "set" on this case, nor are they now sitting in august majesty in "star chamber" proceedings like the "Klu Klux Klan" of the reconstruction period. They are now no longer classed as "Swallow" and anti Swallow." They now sit by the parsonage fire, telling the harrowing tale of the late war, congratulating themselves that they need not pull up stakes and move, or they are rolling musty barrels and boxes from cellar and garret and blaming the elder and the bishop for not arranging a better appointment. The preachers are through with their Conference trials at last, at last.

Dear Harrisburg, beauteous capital of the Keystone State, how resplendent thou art. Bellefonte bows low before thee and asks thee if there is to be another preacher pugilistic bout, to pull it off in our midst. We would like to entertain a Conference every year.

The preachers are a good set of men and we admire them. If they have housecleaning while here, we mind it not, if justice is only done.

TORTURE MACHINES.

Curious Instruments That Were Used In the Middle Ages.

In an old tower in Nuremburg there is a room set apart especially for the preservation of the curious instruments of torture used during the uncertain period historically referred to as the middle ages.

In that room you can see thumbscrews of the most approved pattern closely arranged along shelves filled with "liar helmets" and "bridles" for gossiping women. One horrid relic, called the "spike wheel," is a heavy cylinder, on one side of which stand out two or more score of sharp iron spikes. In days of old when an offender had been sentenced to undergo a "rolling" he was stripped naked and firmly bound on a plank, face down. In this position the "spike wheel" was slowly dragged up and down his back, the number of times depending upon the gravity of the crime and the wording of the sentence.

In several instances the poor victims were prodded so full of holes that they died before they could be removed from the plank. When death was intended, the number of "rolls" was not specified, but double length spikes, heated redhot, were put in the surface of the cylinder. This mode of carrying out capital punishment was hardly as expeditious as the guillotine, but it was equally as certain.

Pictures In Japanese Temples.

The votive pictures (yema) of Japanese temples are an outgrowth of an old custom. In ancient times departed warriors were honored by offerings of sake and rice placed before their tablets and tombs. As the idea gained ground that their spirits hovered around their graves besides food a certain number of spotless white horses were provided with which these spiritual worthies might take recreation. So it became the custom in wealthy Shinto temples to keep one of these sacred animals. There were many shrines that could not afford to buy a white horse, so the next best thing was to get a picture of one; hence the name yema (picture horse) from ye (a picture) and uma (a horse).

The use of the yema was first confined to the Shinto religion, but the Buddhists took kindly to the custom. The word yema has long lost its primitive meaning and has become a generic name for every picture hung up in Shinto shrines or Buddhistic temples.

HUNTINGDON PRESBYTERY

It is in session in the Pleasant Town of Everett.

BUSINESS MEETING TUESDAY

Commissioners Chosen to Represent the Body in the Next General Assembly—The Appointme of Committees.

OPENING SERMON BY DR. LAURIE

EVERETT, April 9.—The Huntingdon Presbytery met at Everett Monday evening at 7:30

In the absence of the retiring moderator, Rev. L. L. Houghawant, Rev. William Laurie, D. D., preached the opening sermon from the text: "Ye are saved by grace through faith and that not o yourself, it is the gift of God, etc." The other parts of the service were conducted by Revs. A. J. Wesley, W. H. Scuyler, Ph. D., and J. D., and J. E. Irvine.

The presbytery was constituted with prayer by the latest ex-moderator, Rev. A. J. Weisley, of Tyrone. The permanent clerk, the Rev. E. H. Mateer, made out the roll.

The Rev. S. T. Lewis, of Osceola, was elected moderator by acclamation, and Rev. W. E. Steckel was elected reading clerk in the same way. Presbytery adjourned until Tuesday morning.

The devotional exercises of the morning opened at 9 a. m. and were conducted by Rev. R. B. Beattie.

Rev. D. K. Freeman, D. D. made one of his characteristic speeches, ably and vigorously defending the work of presbyterial missions. The motion to postpone the transference from presbyterial missions to synodical aid was made.

Dr. Freeman argued the presbyterial missions are more economical. They have not cost the presbytery a single cent the through the splendid services of Dr. Mathers. It costs the synod's committee $1,493 yearly to do their work. The presbyteries of Philadelphia and Pitteburg are doing just what we are doing. We are closely in touch with them. A comparison of our gifts with those of other presbyteries shows the superiority of our scheme. If we adopt the synodical plan we shall have but one representative on the committee.

Dr. Laurie pleaded for more money for Buffalo Run if we continue the presbyterial scheme. The minimum of the report was $800 and in one presbytery $1,000, and our own is considerably lower than $800. If we cannot do that well I am in favor of going into the synod.

Rev. W. H. Decker asked whether the $800 minimum was the amount almed at or actually paid.

Dr. Schuyler's reply seemed to show that it was the aim rather than the realization.

The result of the discussion was that the whole matter was laid on the table by a unanimous rising vote.

Rev. J. H. Mathers, D. D., read the report of the receipts and expenditures of presbyterial missions. The showing was excellent and reflects credit on the presbytery and treasurer. The report was accepted, and the recommendation that we return the $50 to home missions was adopted.

The following persons were nominated for ministerial commissioners to the general assembly: Revs. S. T. Lewis, William Gibb, Ed. F. Johnson, Samuel Barber. Rev. William Gibb and Rev. S. T. Lewis were declared elected commissioners and Rev. Ed. F. Johnson and Rev. Samuel Barber alternat.

The following committee was appointed to prepare a minute on the death of Rev. D. L. Hughes, D. D.; William Laurie, D. D., LL. D. James Harris and Rev. R. F. Wilson.

The following persons were nominated for lay commissioners to the general assembly: John A. Canan, Altoona; Judge James A. Beaver, Bellefonte; S. S. Blair, Tyrone; C. E. Murray, Philipsburg; C. P. Hatfield, Alexandria.

A letter from Judge Beaver stating that it would be impossible for him to go to the General Assembly was read and his name was dropped from the list of candidates.

The Lay Commissioners elected are John A. Canan and C. E. Murray, with C. P. Hatfield and S. S. Blair as alternates.

—Miss Sarah Oliver, is seriously ill with pneumonia at the home of her brother-in-law, Dr. Thomas C. VanTries, on Spring street.

THE DOCTORS' BANQUET.

Held at the Bush House in Honor of the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Their Medical Society.

The 25th anniversary of the Centre County Medical Society was celebrated Friday evening in an appropriate manner at the Bush House.

The doctors met in the parlors of the Bush House at 7:30 and held a business meeting which lasted until 9:30 when they adjourned to the dining room to enjoy the feast prepared for them by Landlord Daggett and his able assistants.

The sight which greeted their eyes was worthy to tempt the gods. The tables were laden with good things. Massive boquets of roses and other flowers were placed at intervals and with the lighted candles and beautiful chinaware and silver presented a most brilliant appearance.

There were twenty-six present who sat down to discuss the following

Broke Both Arms.

Friday afternoon, while playing in the barn of the Mountain House, Snow Shoe, Robert, the seven year old son of Martin Reese, conductor on the Snow Shoe division of the Pennsylvania railroad, fell a distance of fifteen feet. On picking the little fellow up it was found that both arms were broken at the wrist.

Word was telegraphed to his father, who was in Bellefonte at the time, and Mr. Reese took Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, of this place, out to Snow Shoe with him on his train to assist the local physician in attending to the lad's injuries. The boy is reported today to be resting comfortably and getting along as nicely as could be expected under the circumstances.

—"A Wise Woman," the comedy farce by Wilfred Clarke, has, according to the reviews seen of the production, scored the most emphatic kind of a hit. It is serving as a vehicle to display the talent and ability of one of America's daintiest and most fetching comediennes, Marie Lamoar, for the past several seasons with Augustin Daily's Company, and she is credited with having scored very strongly in the production.

POPE'S JUBILEE

It Was Observed With Solemn and Elaborate Services.

IN THE CATHEDRAL AT BALTIMORE

Cardinal Martinelli, the Apostolic Delegate, Took Part and the Sermon Was Preached by Cardinal Gibbons.

SOME EXTRACTS FROM DISCOURSE

BALTIMORE, April 7.—The silver jubilee of pope Leo XIII was observed with solemn and unusually elaborate services at the cathedral Sunday. The ceremony was marked by the presence of two cardinals—Cardinal Martinelli, the apostolic delegate, who came over from Washington Saturday to take part in the services pontificated, and Cardinal Gibbons, who preached the sermon. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather a large congregation was present at the service.

At the conclusion of the pantifical mass Rev. Father O'Donovan, of Cardinal Gibbon's household, read a papal brief extending special plenary indulgence to all Catholics of the arch diocese who attended the triduum.

At 7 o'clock this morning Cardinal Gibbons celebrated mass at a special service for the cathedral sodality, at which 1,000 persons received communion and the papal blessing.

His eminence said in part:

For nearly two thousand years the bishop of Rome has been the most conspicuous figure in the theatre of public life. The name of the sovereign pontiff is indelibly marked on the pages of ecclesiastical history. It is intimately and inseparably associated with the progress and enlightenment and the Christian civilization of the world. The pope ever stands before us as the commander-in-chief of the army of the Lord of Hosts. You might as well shut out the light of day or the air of heaven from your daily walks as exclude the Roman pontiff from his legitimate and permanent sphere in the hierarchy of the church. The history of the United States with the president left out, would be more intelligible than the history of the Christian religion with the omission of the name of the vicar of Christ."

His eminence then briefly outlined the personal and ecclesiastical history of Leo XIII, dwelling especially upon his encyclicals, of which he said:

"The first encyclical to which I shall allude is on 'Christian Marriage,' which was published in 1880. The holy father vindicates in strong and earnest language the unity, the sanctity and the indissolubility of the marriage bond. He tells us that the married couple are the source of the family and the family is the source of society. Social life cannot be maintained in its purity and integrity unless it is sanctified at the fountain head of the home. For the stream does not rise above its source.

"The encyclical on 'The Condition of Workmen' was promulgated in 1891 and is an exhaustive document on the rights and duties of the laboring classes. Never did the Redeemer of Mankind confer a greater temporal blessing on humanity than be ennobling and sanctifying manual labor and by rescuing it from the degradation which has been attached to it. Christ comes into the world not surrounded by the pomp and splendor of an imperial majesty, but he appears as the reputed son of an artisan. 'Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary?' the people said to him. He has shed a halo around the workshop and has lightened the workman's tools by assuming the trade of an artisan. If the professions of a soldier, of a jurist, or of a prelate can be dignified by the examples of a Washington, a Taney and a Carroli, how much more is the calling of a merchanic ennobled by the example of Christ.

"A conflict between labor and capital is as unreasonable as would be a contention between the head and the hands. The interests of capital and labor are correlative. Capital without labor would be unproductive. Would it avail a capitalist to say: 'Behold, this mountain of coal is mine,' if there were no hardy sons of toil to extract the coal from its recesses and send it to the market? What would it profit the laborer to exhibit his brawny arm and his skill if there were no capitalists to give him employment?

He concluded as follows:

"I know not whether Providence will spare me to pay homage to other supreme pontifls, but whether my life is short or long, or whatever may be the future line of popes sitting in the chair of Peter, I shall always cherish a special filial affection and the tenderest memories of Leo XIII."

SCHLOSS—FAUBLE.

Pretty Nuptial Event Celebrated Tuesday Afternoon.

The residence of Martin Fauble, on East High street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding event Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Mr. Fauble's daughter, Blanche Loeb Fauble, became the bride of William Wolf Schloss, of Philadelphia.

The ceremony was performed in the handsome parlors of the residence which were tastefully decorated with flowers, etc., the prevailing colors being green and white. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present.

The bridal party entered to the music of the wedding march as played by Miss Mabel Fauble, a sister of the bride, and took their positions before Rabbi Bernhard Levi, of Pittsburg, who, in a solemn and appropriate manner, peformed the matrimonial service.

The groom was attended by his brother, Leon Schloss, of Philadelphia, as best man, while the bridesmaid was Miss Jennie Fauble, of Harrisburg, a sister of the bride.

The bride, a very beautiful and attractive young lady, wore white Crepe de Chine trimmed with lace, while her two sisters were becomingly gowned in costumes of white.

After the ceremony congratulations followed and a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The bridal party left on the 8:16 train Tuesday evening for their honeymoon tour, after which they will be at home to their many friends at the groom's home, No. 1934 West York street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The many excellent qualities of the bride are too well known to our readers and her many friends in Bellefonte to need any further comment here, while the goom, who is a traveling salesman for a large clothing house, has won many friends during his frequent visits here who justly estimate him to be a man of true worth and high character.

Child Died on the Train.

Sunbury Daily: A tiny white covered casket containing the body of an infant child on the top of a large oaken casket encased in black broadcloth, bearing the remains of its mother, which were placed in the baggage car of Niagara express at Sunbury, Friday afternoon, told a sorrowful story.

Mrs. D. J. Foley, of Carbondale, died at her home at that place, Wednesday afternoon of child birth. The little one by careful nursing survived her and it was thought would live. Friday morning the grief-stricken husband, in company with several ladies, who took charge of the infant child, started with the remains of the mother for Canton, Pa., where all arrangements had been completed for interment.

At Wilkesbarre the funeral party boarded the train of Conductor William Snafer, of this city. The train had not left the station at Wilkesbarre more than five minutes before the infant was taken suddenly ill. Help was beyond human power, the little one dying in the arms of one of the kind ladies just as the train pulled into the station at Creasy.

The body was quietly laid on the rear seat of the car and covered with a white cloth. Word was telegraphed to an undertaker of this city, who met the party at the station and placed the body in a tiny casket.

Doctor Poffenberger signed the necessary papers for the removal of the body and when Niagara express rolled into the station the two caskets, the smallest one on top of the mother's, were placed in the baggage car, and the stricken and doubly sad funeral party continued on its sorrowful and cheerless journey.

THE FARMERS AND THE GOVERNORSHIP.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The machine adherents who are so active in booming John P. Elkin's candidacy for Governor are much chagrined about opposition which greets them on every side in the rural districts.

The Granges of Penna. the largest and by all odds the most influential organized body of farmers in the Commonwealth have determined to give certain of these machine leaders, if Elkin is forced on the ticket, a repetition of the dose they got when Delamater was nominated for Governor.

The Pennsylvania State Grange numbers in its membership thousands of farmers of all political persuasions who takes an active part in the parties with which we are affiliated.

Collectively considered it can be stated that the grange organizations is made up of the most progressive and wide-awake representative farmers and dairymen in Penna. This class of citizens naturally wield a great influence in their respective communities and while it is true that numerically the Patrons of Husbandry are not, in some counties said to be strong enough to control, with their votes, the party primaries, they neve-rthe-less are the chief factors in many rural communities in shaping popular opinion. This of course is due to the fact that with few exceptions the members of the Granges are usually the most intelligent and influential residents in the agricultural sections,

As a natural consequence such respectable, upright and representative citizens exert a far-reaching influence which ramifies the farming regions in every section of the Keystone Commonwealth,

Not only the Patrons of Husbandry put farmers and dairymen very generally throughout the State are up in arms against the present State Administration.

Especially intense is the ill feeling against Jno. Hamilton and the general incompetent manner in which his Agricultural Department has been conducted under the Stone—Elkin—Hamilton regime.

The oleo scandals and groveling ways of Hamilton, Cope and other officials who run the Dairy and Food end of Agricultural Department have aroused the farmers and dairymen to great indignation.

It has just been learned, from a reliable source, that in December last, a concerted movement was begun by gentlemen prominent in agricultural affairs, to take an active hand in the election of a Governor in November next, with this object in view representatives of the Grange, Dairymen's Association, Creamery Clubs, Farmers Alliance and Patrons of Industry from twenty-two of the leading farming counties of Penna. held private conference, when it was determined to oppose the election of Elkin, or any other stalwart of the Stone—Hamilton—Oleo-Crowd.

This action was taken because they consider Elkin is in too close touch with interests and individuals which antagonize the farmers and their measures, Elkin's failure as Atty. General to see that anti-oleo laws were rigidly enforced has irreparably damaged his gubernational aspirations with the rank and file of the farmers and dairymen. Franchise grabs, Coal-Land-grab bills, indemnity-bond scandals and many other things which were engineered in last Legislature through aid of Elkin and a small clique of men are also very nauseous to the farmers and the grange who will not support candidates unless they believe them to be honest.

The "gang" were aware of bad feeling in farming districts but its magnitude was not fully appreciated until quite recently when it leaked out that the farming districts had been thoroughly canvassed by the grange, and other allied farmers organizations. This canvas of the farmers or pure butter advocates—whose battle cry will be; "Down with Oleo-gang and Their Allies" "Elect an honest man for Governor."

"We want no Governor, nor his friend, who demands to be made treasurer of a corruption fund to be used to bribe the legislature."

When it became generally known that Ex.-Lieutenant Gov. L. A. Watres of Scranton was determined to make an aggressive contest for the Governorship and would fight to a finish the coterie of bribe-givers, record-padders, and scheming politicians who hope to nominate a man whom they can "easily reach," it was determined by a number of Republican gentlemen prominent in grange and dairy circles to aid him, and thus secure a Governor who would purge the party of its corrupting element and allow the farmer, organizations, and not petty politicians to control the Agricultural Department.

This decision was reached because Mr. L. A. Watres both when State Senator and Lieut. Governor had on all occasions stood by the farmers and voted for all the grangers measures. It was Senator L. A. Watres who implored Geo. Wallace Delamater to vote for "Farmer" Taggarts Tax bill No 10; this he refused with the result we all know, that the grange turned in almost to a man and voted for Robt. E. Pattison. Watres of course supported tax bill No. 10, also other tax bills, and anti-oleo bills. Such a record not only enabled Watres to be elected Lieut. Governor when Delamater at head of same ticket was defeated, but it has likewise made him so popular that to date the republican members of over 400 subordinate granges in the State have at their meetings endorsed him for Governor, on the Republican ticket. Many of these granges have signified their intention of supporting the democratic nominee if Elkin is selected by the republicans.

Only 4 Subordinate Granges—and these were in localities where Mr. Elkin. was fortunate enough to have some influential friends or relatives in the granges have favored Jno. P. Elkin for Governor about 15 or 20 Granges endorsed Lieut. Gov. J. P. S. Gobin who is also well liked by farmers on account of his loyal and honest support of their bills at all times since he has been in public life. Many more would have favored Gen. Gobin but for the fact it is conceded he is not an aspirant for gubernatorial honors,

The grange not only favor Watres and condemn, Elkin—Stone—Hamilton—outfit but hundreds of personal letters are on file from leading farmers, dairymen and creamerymen, stating that if Elkin heads the Republican ticket they will vote for his opponent and a large number assert that sentiment is rapidly developing in their respective localities that the best way to defeat a disreputable crowd, who have so disgraced the good name of the State and menaced her honest citizens is to not only defeat Elkin for Governor but also every follower of the "gang" who is nominated for the Legislature.

This kind of heroic political labor by the solid and honest rural resident has caused no little concern to the machine leaders and they are groping in the dark, so to speak, endeavoring to counteract it.

They admit that Secretary John Hamilton is a failure and if he starts out with his cohosts in the Agricultural Department to help Elkin in farming communities it would cause trouble on a par with waving a red flag before an angry bull, which the machine leaders know, would do far more harm than good among farmers and Patrons.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Preliminary arrangements have been made for the fight of wholesalers and retailers of Philadelphia dressed meats against the Meat Trust.

Jesse K. Cope, Pure Food Commissioner of Pennsylvania, who has figured prominently in the oleo scandals in this State, has heard of the coming campaign. It is a matter of common report that the Meat Trust is also the Oleo Trust.

COPE TRIES TO WARD OFF CRITICISM.

With the information before him of the contemplated action of the independent live stock and dressed meat dealers. Food Commissioner Cope, yesterday, addressed them the following interesting communication:

Investigation into the character of the preserved meats on sale in Pennsylvania reveals the fact that most of the packers use borax or boracic acid as a preserving agent.

This has brought the matter to the attention of some of the more extensive packing establishments, and they have stated that the use of these preserving agents is unnecessary, and that if reasonable time is given, all meats preserved in this manner shall be taken from the Pennsylvania markets.

In view of this declaration and after a consultation with the Secretary of Agriculture I have granted the request of the manufacturers and have fixed the time at which such goods shall be withdrawn as the first day of August, 1902. Suits

Their opinions were of this substance:

"The promised prosecution will be like that which Cope instituted against the traffic in oleo, a farce and a fake. How will he trace the embalmed stuff? How will he enforce his new order.

"Cope knows that the Meat Trust is the Oleo Trust. He won't do anything to hurt it.

"Why the delay until August? If the stuff is impure food and injurious to health, why not confiscate it in accordance with the law, which Cope and his men have taken an oath to enforce?

"It is a mere subterfuge to entice us to give up our fight against the impure product of the trust. Cope knows that the legislative conventions are the places where we will make our effort, and, by throwing us this sop he hopes to so placate us to let the August and September conventions go by default.

SHOULD PROSECUTE THE TRUST.

"If the provisions of the pure food law relating to impure meats are of service at any time, that time is surely the summer, when everything tends toward decay. Yet Cope's letter gives the dealers in embalmed beef almost all summer to dispose of their product. I say product advisedly. Cope himself uses the word manufacturers.

"According to his own statement, Cope has caught the trust redhanded in disposing of doctored meats. He has had correspondence with its members and they have acknowledged that the doctoring is unnecessary and injurious to health. Now, why does he not compel them to shut up shop at once and why does he not prosecute them?"

MARITIME EXPRESSIONS.

Used In a Metaphorical Sense, They Are Quite Common.

Maritime expressions, used metaphorically, are, in fact, very common. We say a couple are "spliced," a young man is the "mainstay" of his family, an intruder "puts his oar in," the member from Wayback "steers through," a man is "hard up," sometimes "taken aback" or has "the wind taken out of his sails," a toper is "slewed," a loafer "spins a yarn," sometimes "tries the other tack," and a ruler "steers the ship of state" through troublesome times.

This last metaphor is extremely ancient, by the way. Horace refers to Rome as a ship at sea, and Plutarch says the Delphic oracle referred to Athens in the same way. A Tamil saying embodies a like metaphor, "The soul is the ship, reason is the helm, the oars are the soul's thoughts, and truth is the port." An old collection of English proverbs contains this one: "The tongue is the rudder of our ship." A Malay maxim says, "The boat which is swamped at sea may be bailed out, but the shipwreck of the affections is final."

Aristophanes, Plautus and others use an expression which comes down to us as an English saw, "To row one way and look another." An old English proverb (1614) was, "It is not good to have an oar in every one's boat."—United Service.

"Lifting the King."

One of the picturesque English coronation ceremonies which have been discontinued is that of lifting the king. In the old days the monarch always slept at the palace of Westminster on the night before the coronation. The regalia, which are still, technically speaking, in the dean and chapter of Westminster, were brought by them to Westminster hall in preparation for the ceremony. These were arranged on a long table, the crown, the scepter, the spurs, and so on. The king when he descended from the palace to Westminster hall was lifted by his nobles on to a marble chair.

The lifting of the king into this chair was a survival of the old Saxon custom of carrying the king on his shield. The custom survived up to the time of the coronation of George IV. When the monarch was seated in the chair, he at once directed by pointing his finger which of his nobles should carry the various parts of the regalia to the abbey, and the procession began.—London Tatler.

Why He Was Rejected.

The soul of a rajah who had been released from the cares of this world and an uncongenial wife presented himself at the gates of paradise.

"Have you been in purgatory yet?" demanded Brahma.

"No, but I have been married."

"Enter then. It is the same thing."

At this moment another soul arrived, who begged Brahma to allow him also to enter.

"Softly, softly. Have you been in purgatory yet?"

"No, but neither has that other fellow. He died the same day I did."

"Very true, but he had been married."

"Married, indeed! Why, I have been married three times."

"Away, then, to the lower regions!" said Brahma sternly. "Paradise is not made for imbeciles."

A Man's Success.

Ever think what "success" in life means to a man? That he work like a dog as long as he lives and send his wife abroad and his children away to school. Then when he dies he must leave a competence for his "loved ones," in order that they may continue to live without work. Ever hear of a man's loved ones being criticised for failure to do their duty toward him? But from the time the boy is eight years old to the time the man is tottering with old age he never picks up a book, newspaper or magazine without seeing something with reference to his duty. But did you ever hear of any one owing a duty to man or boy?—Atchison Globe.

A Wasp's Nest.

The female wasp spends the winter in a torpid condition, and when spring arrives she hunts up some sort of sheltered spot appropriate for a nest. Having selected the retreat, she proceeds to lay within it the foundation of a home. For this object earth will not serve her turn. The substance of which the walls and chambers of the house are to be composed must be none other than the finest paper, made of wood pulp, mixed with a sort of sizing, worked to a paste and finely spread in sheets.

Brief Naval Message.

One of the briefest naval dispatches ever penned was Captain Walton's message to his chief, Admiral Byng, after the defeat of the Spanish fleet off Cape Passaro in 1718, and it ran thus:

Sir—I have taken and burnt as per margin, going for Syracuse, and am, sir, your obedient servant. J. WALTON.

ARTIFICIAL ICE.

Principle Upon Which This Commodity Is Manufactured.

The principle upon which the manufacture of ice is based is that a gas when compressed gathers heat enormously, and if robbed of this heat and allowed to escape at a future time it seeks to regain its heat by withdrawing heat from its surroundings. Ammonia gas is generally preferred to others because it can be liquefied with comparatively little pressure. On removing the water from common ammonia by distillation anhydrous ammonia is obtained. This is compressed by a combined steam pump and a compressor, and the resulting liquefaction induces heat, which is economized by circulating water about the vessel or pipe containing the liquefied ammonia. Thus the ammonia is cooled and the heat largely transferred to the water, which is then pumped back to the boiler that supplies the steam pump. The liquid ammonia is then carried in a pipe to expansion coils that afford plenty of room for its evaporation, when it begins to return to the gaseous form and to draw heat from its surroundings, which gradually reduces the temperature. Proper vessels of water are placed in contact with the expansion coils, and in due time ice is formed.

Two Wrongs.

A clergyman, lecturing on "Capital Punishment," took strong grounds against the death penalty, arguing that while it was wrong for a man to commit murder it was but another wrong to kill the murderer and that two wrongs never made a right.

"At least," said he, "I never heard of but one case where they did." And he proceeded to relate the following story, presumably in support of his argument:

"A man entered a country grocery, where a number of the villagers sat around on barrels and boxes, and asked if two wrongs ever made a right. The response was 'Never.' So I thought till recently," continued he, "when I met a stranger who asked me to change a five dollar bill for him. I did so and after his departure found the bill was a counterfeit. So I kept it till the other day and shoved it on a fellow greener than I." The listeners exclaimed that those were two wrongs certainly, but they didn't make a right. "Well," replied the man, "they made me all right."

English Jewelers' Tricks.

Many working jewelers with whom articles are left to repair are very tricky individuals indeed, and women are their chief victims. A great device of the working jeweler, so far as gold chains go, is to take off the hallmarked fastening loops and to substitute for these an exact imitation in metal, so that these should always be most carefully examined. In ladies' lockets the jeweler fraud usually takes out the gold inside rim which fastens the glass, and of course he puts in a sham substitute. Where an article sent to him contains a great number of tolerably small stones he will take one or two of these out and put in imitation articles specially made to deceive, says Woman's Life. A working jeweler has been known to make pounds a week by taking away the hallmarked crossbars of gold alberts and replacing them with brass. These remarks only, of course, apply to the small number of black sheep to be found in this as in every trade.

Decadence In Penmanship.

"While the people as a whole may write more legibly than they did a generation ago," said an old writing teacher, "there are not so many really excellent penmen. The multiplication of business colleges has improved the handwriting of a portion of the public, while the invention of the typewriter has made it useless to acquire extra skill in penmanship. Time was when the first class penmen commanded high salaries, but now there is such a slight demand for good writers that the market is overstocked. No penman can compete with a typewriter, and so the art of superior penmanship is gradually dying out and will soon be lost."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Our First Canal Lock.

The first canal lock built in America is preserved as a relic near the present site of the Soo canal. It was built by the Northwestern Fur company in 1790. It is 38 feet long and 8 feet 9 inches wide. It had a lift of nine feet and a depth of two and a half feet. During the war of 1812 it was badly wrecked. The early day fur companies used this little waterway to lock down their small cargoes of valuable furs.

Pictorial Wash Lists.

Pretty old inventions are our modern wash lists. The old German housewife had an odd way of keeping track of the garments she gave out to be washed. She had a picture of each article and wrote down the number of everything opposite to it with a piece of chalk, which was rubbed out when the article was returned, to be used again the next week. It was really a pictorial and perpetual wash list.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Labor Troubles the Only Event Which Are to Be Deplored.

MANUFACTURERS ARE GOING SLOW

In the Markets for Textile Products There Is a Firm Tone—Dull Times in Cereal Markets During the Past Week.

DECREASE IN TOTAL OF FAILURES

NEW YORK, April 5.—R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade says:

Labor troubles continue to be the only serious deplorable events in the industrial world, and while many disagreements have been promptly settled, others have appeared to interrupt production and make manufacturers conservative in undertakings. Supply of iron and steel does not seem in any immediate danger of overtaking the demand. In fact, the prospect of labor disturbance on May 1 makes the situation more uncertain and those who hoped for equilibrium in the market by July 1 are less sanguine. Midsummer seems to be the dividing line as to quotations, prices after July 1 averaging about $1 per ton less than earlier deliveries, while those few fortunate sellers of spot material continue to secure large premiums. Pittsburg pig iron is definitely higher and large contracts are still under negotiation between the Bessemer producers and the leading consumer. Coke continues to move a little more freely, yet prices are fully sustained. In the markets for textile products there is a distinctly firm tone. The labor troubles and the high position of raw cotton are both factors of strength, while mills have order that will occupy their full capacity for some time.

Widely divergent views as to the crop outlook resulted in a dull market for the cereals and only small changes in prices.

Failures in the United States this week 167, against 195 last year, and 22 in Canada, against 20 last year.

A CALL ON BISHOP WALDEN.

A "Republican" Reporter Spends a Pleasant Half Hour

WITH THE DISTINGUISHED DIVINE

In Which the Bishop Makes Clear Some of His Rulings in the Swallow Case—It Throws a Different Light on the Subject.

WHAT THE BISHOP SAID

A reporter of the REPUBLICAN had the pleasure Thursday of a pleasant half hour's interview, at the residence of Ex-Governor Daniel H. Hastings, with Bishop John M. Walden. D. D., LL. D., the distinguished prelate who presided so ably over the deliberations of the late Methodist Conference.

The object of the interview was to get a clearer understanding of the Bishop's rulings in the now famous Swallow cases, which rulings were so severely criticised by Dr. Swallow in his interview in last week's issue of this paper.

The Bishop greeted the reporter kindly but in response to a request for a statement in answer to Dr. Swallow refused most emphatically, saying that he had no statement to make nor would he reply to Dr. Swallow. He, however, was perfectly willing to answer any questions which the reporter might ask him in reference to his rulings. The reporter there upon showed him a copy of the REPUBLICAN containing the Swallow interview and asked him to explain these different rulings.

From the remarks of Bishop Walden the following facts were gleaned:

Bishop Walden gave a verbal ruling in each case involving a question of law at the time it came properly before Conference and subsequently submitted the rulings in writing and they are entered in the proper place in the journals of the Conference.

There were three committees of inquiry appointed. One in the case of Dr. Hill, one in the case of Rev. Hartzell and one in the case of Dr. Swallow. While the appointment of the first committee was pending, the right of Conference to employ such committees was questioned and the Bishop stated that in entertaining the motion for the appointment of such committee he recognized that the Conference had that right. He afterwards submitted the ruling in due form, in which it was stated that the Conference could use the report of the committee in determining the question of entertaining the charges, the Conference having full power in the matter.

Bishop Walden recognized the right of Dr. Swallow to speak when matters connected with his own trial were pending.

The first day of the session he appointed four members of the Conference to a deputation raised to attend the funeral of Rev. Dr. Finley B. Riddle at Bloomsburg, and in view of Dr. Swallow's relations to the deceased and the widow's desire to have him present, the Bishop requested him to act with the deputation. This matter is clearly set forth in the journal of the Conference.

We would state for the benefit of our readers that Dr. Swallow did not attend this funeral.

The Bishop decided that the Superintendency of the Book Room, held by Dr. Swallow is a secular employment to which he was assigned by the request of the Conference, and the administration of that business forms no part of the ministerial services of a Methodist preacher.

The law of the church makes the Bishop, or someone appointed by the Bishop, president of the select number by which an accused preacher is tried at Conference and the president and one or more Conference secretaries are the officers of this court. The President submits the specifications and charges according to Methodist judicial usage to the select number, but the findings, under charges which are entertained, are reached solely by the action of the select number. This select number is clothed with all the power of Conference for adjudicating the case submitted to it.

At the close of the Conference Rev. William Powick, Dr. Swallow's counsel, assured the Bishop in the presence of Dr. Swallow and Dr. W. P. Shriner that he was entirely satisfied with the rulings, which he, the Bishop, had made and that there was nothing in his presidency of the court to which he could object.

The Bishop could not give Dr. Swallow an appointment for two reasons: First, because his case was referred to the Presiding Elder of the Danville district for investigation, and, secondly, he (Swallow) had taken an appeal from the findings of the Conference, through its select number, to a judicial conference, hence this case is still pending, and either of these facts put it beyond the power of a Bishop to assign him to an appointment, and also put it beyond the power of the Conference to request his re-appointment to the Superintendency of the Methodist Book Rooms.

Just before leaving the reporter told Bishop Walden of the decision of the East New York Conference, in refusing to entertain Dr. Swallow's charges against Dr. George Edward Reed, the State Librarian. The Bishop had not heard of it before but expressed no surprise at the result and said it was an exactly parallel case to those tried here.

Floated a Half Mile.

A few days ago at Coudersport, Lucy Mitchell, aged 5, and her sister, aged 4, were playing along Mill creek, when Lucy fell in. It was some time before the younger sister informed her mother, but as soon as she was told Rozelle King and William Snyder started down along the stream.

Taking a short cut they came within sight of the Goodsells dam, which was a half mile away from the child's home. They saw the form of the girl, and when it was within a few rods of the dam King jumped into the water and rescued her. The child, to all appearances, was dead, but after applying the usual remedies for over an hour she was restored. She was delirious for several hours, but the next day fully recovered.

Stepped in the Way of a Train.

John Markley, of Jersey Shore, aged 27 years a Beech Creek brakeman, was killed at Patton Tuesday morning. While signaling the engineer to run a coal train ahead he stepped over on an adjoining track and was struck by a passenger train, the engine of which whirled him against his own train.

Death came in a short time from the injuries. The body was taken to Snow Shoe, where the funeral occurred on Wednesday. Markley is survived by a wife and two children.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a farmer's wife sits on the porch in the growing shadows of a summer evening, knowing to the full what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. That's the tiredness of a healthy woman. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. Just as in profound silence a discord jars the ear more forcibly, so now that she has stopped moving about, this tired woman feels more acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves.

Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Words cannot tell what I suffered for thirteen years with uterine trouble and dragging-down pains through my hips and back," writes Mrs. John Dickson, of Grenfell, Assiniboia Dist., N. W. Ter. "I can't describe the misery it was to be on my feet long at a time. I could not eat nor sleep. Often I wished to die. Then I saw Dr. Pierce's medicines advertised and thought I would try them. Had not taken one bottle till I was feeling well. After I had taken five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I was like a new woman. Could eat and sleep and do all my own work."

How About It?

The following poem with the above title was read at the parsons Camp Fire at Gregg Post rooms Saturday evening March 29th, composed by Rev. Hicks.

Yes, we boys of long ago,
Get together and want to know
About the marches, campings, fights,
Endured to settle questioned rights
About the Union, our pride delight,
Which was assailed by "boys in Gray"
Who surely ment to win the day.
We went to settle once for all,
Shall our Union stand or fall?
For fullest facts of this great past,
When love for Union stood the test
Thro' years when "blue and gray" I'd strive
Just ask Gregg Post 95.

Those years were full of daring acts,
Unsurpassed by any facts,
In history given of any age
Of hunger, thirst diseases sore,
In hospitals, prison-pens galore,
On battlefields all red with blood,
And strewn with brave, heroic dead,
Of talking ones who still survive,
None can out-chin Post 95

I would'nt for a moment think,
When "Uncle Sam" was on the brink
Of ruin, crash, and utter smash,
That loyal men would shirk the task
Of meeting those whose only aim
Was plant our "Uncle" with the slain,
Had other than this one desire,
Save our "Uncle" from the fire
Kindled by the "boys in gray,"
Who rushed into the fray
Dear old "Uncle Sam" to slay,
Of those who did the strife survive,
And members now of 95,
How many saw the fiery front?
How many stood the battle's brunt?
And side by side with heroes true
Clad in loyal Union blue,
Fought the long war bravely through
And here both hearty and alive,
Members of Gregg Post 95.

When brandy-peaches and apple-Jack,
Supplied the place of hardtack,
When wind and water was the "bill"
That did our gnawing stomachs fill,
The gallant boys of 95
Did on hardtack feed and thrive,
Kept months shut close and tight,
'Gainst apple-jack both red and white,
And when standing in the line
Was straight as a dog's leg behind,
For these boys all were Centre's pride,
Whether recruit or veteran tried,
Of all who did those years survive,
There's none more "yarning" than 95.

Entering fights these "boys" were last,
And getting out were 'bout the first,
Then hunted places big not small
Into which in haste they crawled,
An' sure as we are now alive,
This accounts for 95

Before we say to you "good-night,"
We'll sober be in our flight,
And athe truth well known to all,
Braver men were never called
To stand in any battle-line,
Defending rights and truths sublime,
None more heroic, brave, and true,
In "Jonny gray or Yankee blue,"
Ever formed in line to fight,
Put down the wrong, establish right,
When we were young and all alive
Than our Comrades of 95.

All men are better for your deeds,
All women safer because you freed
Our country from the hellish chain,
That fetters freedom, home and men,
While passing years all will strive
To honor the "boys" of 95.

PASSENGERS FACE DEATH

On Train Caught in Terrible Blizzard and Storm

STALLED IN DRIFT FIVE NIGHTS

Two Hundred and Fifty People Were in This Predicament—One Man Attempted to Kill Himself—Relief Came After Awful Suffering.

ST. PAUL, April 3.—Passengers arriving Tuesday on a Great Northern train due last Friday tell of being snow-bound for four days and five nights on the prairies of North Dakota in the midst of the worst blizzard the Northwest has seen in many years, with only food enough for two scanty meals a day and with such an amount of fuel that the women had to wrap themselves in blankets and the men to wear their over-coats day and night to keep from freezing.

The train was completely lost to the world. Late Thursday afternoon it picked its precarious way out of Williston in the hope of being able to reach Minot, some fourteen miles to the east, before night.

Almost midway, at a little stopping place called Ray, where there are only sidings, a water tank and a coal shed, the train was stalled. The engineer thought he could run the engine back to Williston and get aid, and, taking the conductor with him, started on the trip.

FAST IN A DRIFT.

The long engine was stuck in a drift in a cut a short distance out of the town and had to be abandoned. This left the train of eight coaches and 250 passengers alone on the siding, with all communication cut off. Then began the long siege, during which the cold had to be borne and hunger stifled. There was much suffering.

There was an incipient riot on the first day. The second-class passengers insisted that they have as much or more food than the others, and as they were in larger numbers and had more ravenous appetites it was difficult to confine them to their quota.

Many were not willing, as the first class passengers insisted, that the women and children should be fed and taken care of first, but after some argument they were prevailed upon to subside.

ONE MAN CUT HIS THROAT.

Monday evening Professor Colgrove, of the University of Washington, who has been despondent and morose, attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. There was a physician on the train, but he had no facilities for performing the necessary operation, and it was absolutely necessary to get into communication with one of the neighboring towns.

In their desperation, the passengers broke open everything in the train's chest and in the conductor's box found a telegraph instrument.

A young man, an electrician, faced the blizzard and tapped one of the wires and attached the instrument. He notified the operators at both Minot and Williston of what had occurred.

From each place a snow plow was started in front of an engine, bearing a surgeon. The one from Minot, after a hard night's work, reached the siding early the following morning and the wounded man was removed on the first train to St. Paul, where he was cared for at the City Hospital.

WERE ALMOST FAMISHED.

The almost famished passengers who had suffered from the cold and exposure were given food and warm berths in the first train pushed through the drifts.

The rotary plow made one trip through the drifts between Ray and Minot, but the snow piled in so rapidly that it was necessary for the rotary to pass through again and then precede the passenger through the cut.

Professor Colgrove's jugular vein is severed and it is not believed he can recover.

Mr. Colgrove had been ill from too close application to work and had decided to spend a month with friends and relatives at Hamilton, N. Y.

Mrs. William L. Smith of No. 1220 Erie Ave., Williamsport, Pa., says:—"My little daughter Sophia had for almost a year been complaining of her eyes troubling her. They looked all right but seemed to ache all the time and there was a puffing below the eyes and she felt tired all the time. I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and gave her some of them. She has not since complained of her eyes-the puffiness has disappeared and she seems bright and cheerful. I cannot speak too highly of them."

An Aged Lady's Death.

Mrs. Mary Steinkirchner wife of Joseph Steinkirchner, died Saturday morning at her home in Bush Addition, after an illness of four weeks duration. Her death was due to injuries and a broken leg which she sustained by falling off the back porch at her home.

Deceased was born in Germany 79 years ago. She had been married 54 years to Joseph Steinkirchner who survives her. She was a consistent member of the Catholic church, of a kindly disposition and beloved by all who knew her.

She is survived by the following children: Michael, of Newton Kan., Joseph, of Clearfield; Mrs. William McGowan, of Roopsburg; Mrs. P. A. King, of Easton and Mrs. Margaret Daley of Bellefonte.

The funeral took place Monday morning at ten o'clock from St. John's Catholic church. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Traits of Three Cities.

A Chicagoan may frankly tell you that you are losing valuable time if you live elsewhere than in his city. His mental attitude is the result of too much Chicago. A New Yorker publicly proclaims it that when you get a few miles outside of New York city you really cease to live and are simply camping out. That is the result of too much New York. A Bostonian says nothing, and you understand his meaning perfectly. You realize that he is not saying whole volumes to you, and you are powerless to dispute a word of it. You have a feeling that he is pitying you because you do not know that Boston is all there is.—Nixon Waterman in National.

Tortoise Shell.

What is known as "tortoise shell" consists of the thin outer scales which overlie the shell of a species of sea turtle. The shelling process consists in spreading dried leaves or grass evenly over the back and then setting them on fire. The heat causes the shell to separate at the joints, but does not injure it. A large blade is then inserted horizontally between the laminæ, which are gently pried from the back. Many turtles do not survive the process, but most of them live and get a new covering, just as a man will grow a finger nail in place of one he may lose.

He Knew Them.

What Counts.

"We are here," began the chairman of the committee, "to discuss ways and means for securing the passage of our bill by the legislature."

"Well," remarked one who was something of a lobbyist, "I know the surest of all ways if we only have sufficient means."—Philadelphia Press.

Should Be Leader.

Country Population Drifting to the Cities.

Secretary of Agriculture John Hamilton, in his annual report to Governor Stone, says that in the past decade the cities have drawn over a million people from the rural districts. On this subject the secretary says:

"The country districts showed a gain in 24 counties amounting only to 113,552. Forty-three counties show a loss of 90,220, leaving the net gain of population for all the rural districts of the state only 23,332. The gain in the country districts occurred for the most part in the lumbering and mining counties.

"The gain in the 10 lumbering and mining counties, consisting of Cambria, Clearfield, Elk, Fayette, Forest, Jefferson, Lehigh, Luzerne, Somerset and Westmoreland, amounted to 87,665. The aggregate loss to the country districts in the 57 other counties was therefore 64,333, showing beyond question that the agricultural population is gradually growing less in the country districts of Pennsylvania."

Chronic Bronchitis Cured.

"For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Mr. Joseph Coffman, of Montmorenci, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar, and always with satisfaction." C. M. Parrish.

Charley's Aunt and Jane

Reaped a rich harvest from their American tour and certainly took their audiences by storm. There seems to be more finish to comedies written by English authors. And, by the way, "A Wise Woman" was first produced at the Strand Theatre, London, where it had a phenomenal run of 238 nights and was the hit of the season. They come high, but we must have them.

Oil for the Children.

Give them oil—cod-liver oil. It's curious to see the result.

Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anæmic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Perry M. Lytle, of Huntingdon county, has been reappointed Surveyor of Customs for the district of Philadelphia. Mr. Lytle was once a member of the State Legislature where he served his constituents in a faithful manner. He always stood loyally by the farmers and laboring classes.

The figures of last year's election in this State show that the Democrats carried eleven congressional districts, only four of which are now represented in Congress by Democrats. On a similar vote next November the Democrats would gain seven members of Congress, or more than one-third the number necessary to overcome the Republican majority in the present House. This is one of the penalties the Republican party may have to pay if the machine forces Mr. Elkin on the ticket for Governor. No one doubts that the machine will have the power to nominate Mr. Elkin.—Wilkes-Barre Record.

We do not think Colonel Watres is disappointed in the least over the result in Blair County. As a keen observer of the drift of the political current he doubtless knew how it was tending in that county, but he met it bravely, and on the eve of the contest sounded a clarion call to duty which should arouse the Republican conscience of Pennsylvania to a realization of the conditions by which the party is threatened in this year's campaign. In this earnest manifesto, in which every word rings with unalloyed truth, Colonel Watres arraigns the present Administration, of which Attorney General Elkin is a part, and which he seeks to perpetuate as "the heir apparent" of the Stone dynasty, for its assaults on the Constitution and its flagrant disregard of the people's rights as shown in the notorious ripper bill, the midnight franchise grab and kindred iniquities the like of which, we venture to say have never before been attempted in this or any other State of the Union. And all this blistering disgrace to the Commonwealth was concentrated in and represented by the candidacy of Attorney General Elkin.—Scranton Truth.

WON'T AGREE TO ELKIN.

Senator M. S. Quay and other State leaders are greatly disturbed over chaotic political conditions in Pittsburg Senator Quay recently visited the Smoky city to discuss a harmony deal, but Mr. Thos. S. Bigelow refused to meet the Beaver county Senator and discuss any harmony arrangement which would include the nomination of Jno. P. Elkin for Governor.

Referring to this matter Mr. Bigelow said:

"The people are tired of deals and trades in politics. I am an humble soldier in the ranks of the Citizens' party. I have volunteered my services for the fall and spring campaigns, when a county ticket is to be elected and when a City Recorded chosen. I volunteered in good faith and will keep my word. The people want to conduct their own affairs without being traded off and dealt out by professional politicians."

As Senator Quay looks around on the wreck in Pittsburg his confidential opinion of Governor Stone as a political strategist would be worth having.

Not one Republican newspaper in Pittsburg is supporting Attorney General Elkin for the gubernatorial nomination. But as long as Governor Stone and Recorder Brown are for him Mr. Elkin isn't afraid.

OLIVER, LIKE BIGELOW, AGAINST ELKIN DEAL.

PITTSBURG, March 30.—Following the announcement of Thomas S. Bigelow that he is opposed to any deals with the State Administration in the interest of Elkin for Governor, the Pittsburg Gazette, published by George T. Oliver, expresses itself in the same vein.

The Gazette this morning says editorially:

"The air is full of rumors of what are referred to as harmony deals' and many statements are published implying that all that is necessary to restore vigor and efficiency to the Republican party is to conciliate various personal interests. But such a course under the present circumstances would be a foolish defiance of public sentiment.

"No set of politicians, high or low, need expect to end the party troubles or harmonize the party organization by any tenders of office or patronage. Such things have been done before, but they cannot be done now. The manifestations of public sentiment are too plain to be disregarded. The only safe course is to adopt such measures and nominate such candidates as will restore public confidence in the Republican party organization as an instrument for executing the demands of the people."

Should Elkin be nominated for Governor he may be elected, but many a local candidate will be slaughtered to elect him. Let the party in Wyoming County look out for itself and let the Machine go to destruction. The Machine has destroyed your chance. Now let Wyoming aid in destroying the Machine by electing its delegates for Watres.—The Press.

Clearfield County Republicans are practically unanimous for the nomination of Alexander E. Patton for State Senator in the Clearfield-Clinton-Center District, and while other candidates are talked of in the other counties it is probable Clinton will be for Patton, which would assure his nomination. The hardest fight will come in the election, for the district is close. If any Republican can be elected, however, Patton will certainly be. He is well known and popular all over the district.—The Press.

It is good news to hear that Elisha A. Coray will be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature from the Second District of Luzerne County. A Legislature composed of a majority of men of Mr. Coray's character and courage would be free from scandal and jobbery.—The Press.

Representative Philbin of Lackawanna County, speaking of the Republican defeat in that county last year by 4,000 majority, says:—If any one who has been prominently identified with the present State administration is nominated for Governor this summer, I feel sure that our November experience will be repeated?"

Gen. Willis Hulings of Venango County is against Mr. Elkin's nomination for Governor, and speaks out as follows:—"We have reached a crisis in party management in the State and we need to wake up. Things have been going on which stink in the nostrils of the people, and we need straight, clean men. We must stop the control of the party by a few men who use it for their own commercial purposes; as men who take an interest in Republican affairs, we must help the State awake."

Congressman Palmer, having come out in favor of the nomination of L. A. Watres for Governor, will take the field in his behalf. This will bring about a rather complicated state of affairs. The Congressman has been a strong Quay man the last few years, and if the senior Senator should support Elkin, every Quay man in Luzerne county will do the same. This would separate General Palmer from his old time political friends, as he is bound to stand by Watres, no matter what position the State machine takes on the Gubernatorial nomination, Congressman Palmer says there is no question that Mr. Watres is the choice of the Republicans of Luzerne county for Governor.

Mr. Palmer's advice appeals to the best Republicans in the county, but when the primaries come these Republicans do not bother about going to the polls, whilst the Quay men do. The Luzerne Congressman claims, however, that the campaign for Governor this year is going to be an educational one, and that the Republican masses cannot be fooled.

Congressman Palmer feels that if he can capture the Luzerne delegation to the State Convention for Watres, it will aid him in securing a renomination and election to Congress. Mr. Palmer does not say so himself, but his friends do not hesitate to say that the chances of Palmer's re-election would be better with some man for Governor other than Elkin. In thirty years no Congressman from the Luzerne District has been re-elected, although many have tried to be.

The Wilkes-Barre Record says:

"The sticking point in the Elkin candidacy for the Governorship is the likelihood of losing the legislature in case he shall be nominated. It is admitted that enough votes could be stuffed in the Philadelphia ballot boxes to carry Elkin safely into port unless there should be an unanticipated Democratic tidal wave; but to save Elkin and lose the State and the senatorship and the chance of legislative loot is a prospect so full of gloom that the leaders hesitate. They are taking time to think it over, and apparently the more they think the more they hesitate."

DELAMATER AND ELKIN

Because of the great party majority in the State the Harrisburg Machine and its supporters seem to think that a nomination, however obtained, is all that is necessary in order to secure a victory; but recent history has demonstrated that this is a fallacy, and in this case history is likely to repeat itself.

Those who predicted that Delamater would be defeated were laughed to scorn. Personally Mr. Delamater was as popular as Mr. Elkin, and he had the advantage at the time of his nomination of not having been identified, as Mr. Elkin is, with a discredited ripper Administration. All that was considered essential to Mr. Delamater's success was the nomination, and even though he was the choice of the machine his friends and supporters felt that, owing to the strength of the party, he could not be defeated. The fact that he was beaten badly by Robert E. Pattison, while the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Louis Arthur Watres, was elected over a popular Democratic opponent, showed that a great many Republicans in the State voted with keen discrimination in the Delamater campaign.

The lesson was taught again in the case of General Beaver, and should Mr. Elkin be nominated this year the experience will be repeated.—The Scranton "Truth".

Ex-State Senator Andrews was one of the callers on Senator Penrose to-day.

"How about the situation in Pennsylvania?" Mr. Andrews was asked.

"There doesn't seem to be much of a situation," he responded; "everything is quiet."

"How about harmony in the party?"

"Oh, there's lots of harmony. Great chunks of it," chuckled the ex-State chairman.

"Will Elkin be nominated?"

"Yes. Elkin will be nominated. Then will come the deluge. You will have to reckon with the people this year and they are an uncertain quantity."—The Press.

REFORMING THE TARIFF OFF THE FARMER.

From Grange Trade Bulletin

A determined effort is being made in Congress by the leaders of the party that has boasted that it stands for "protection for American industries", to lower the import duties on raw sugars, tobacco, semi-tropical fruits and all agricultural products so that foreign Cuban farmers might be enabled to sell their agricultural products in the United States at more renumerative prices on the plea that, it costs more in Cuba to produce the crops than they can be sold for in the markets of the world.

But nothing is said by these reformed protectionists of the fact that the American farmer has been compelled for the last twenty-five years to sell his products in the markets of the World at less than the cost of production.

We would appeal to these reform protectionists whether farming is not an American industry and entitled to the same measure of protection accorded to the American manufacturer.

We would remind these protectionists that the American farmer realizes that this Cuban tariff legislation is reforming all off the farmer and that before the coming political campaign is closed they will again appeal to the American farmer to stand up for the policy of protection.

If it is necessary to reduce the import duties then why not reduce the duty on iron, and steel, so that the American manufacturer could sell the American farmer, as well as the Cuban, cheaper implements so as to enable him to compete with the productions of the cheap agricultural labor countries of the world.

GOV. WM. A. STONE.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The executive of this great State stands shoulder to shoulder with the machine. He retains in office objectionable and incompetent men. Under his administration acts of public officials have been so disgraceful that honest and fair minded citizens of all parties have become disgusted. So intense is public sentiment against Gov Stone and the clique of objectionable and in many instances dishonest men who abuse the power they possess that thousands and thousands of honest republican voters flatly refuse to participate in the primary elections. This class of citizens will, however, be on deck in November and unless all signs fail the corrupt machine will be wiped out of existence by the indignant citizens who now seem indifferent to many of the revolting acts of members of the General Assembly and other public servants.

The Huntingdon Journal says:

"Brown, of Pittsburg, the 'ripper' Recorder, who was in turn ripped out of office by Governor Stone, charges that Stone was treasurer of the fund used in the passage of the celebrated "ripper" bill, and has not accounted for the money. That legislators were bought to support the ripper legislation is denied by no one. But even Stone was not, before Brown's open charge, believed to be so utterly destitute of all honor and dignity as to occupy the position of treasurer of a corruption fund while at the same time occupying the chair of Governor of a great Commonwealth. Stone is guilty he should be impeached; if not guilty he should find a way to make Brown suffer for his charge.

From Grange Trade Bulletin

Preliminary arrangements have been made for the fight of wholesalers and retailers of Philadelphia dressed meats against the Meat Trust.

Jesse K. Cope, Pure Food Commissioner of Pennsylvania, who has figured prominently in the oleo scandals in this State, has heard of the coming campaign. It is a matter of common report that the Meat Trust is also the Oleo Trust.

COPE TRIES TO WARD OFF CRITICISM.

With the information before him of the contemplated action of the independent live stock and dressed meat dealers. Food Commissioner Cope, yesterday, addressed them the following interesting communication:

Investigation into the character of the preserved meats on sale in Pennsylvania reveals the fact that most of the packers use borax or boracic acid as a preserving agent.

This has brought the matter to the attention of some of the more extensive packing establishments, and they have stated that the use of these preserving agents is unnecessary, and that if reasonable time is given, all meats preserved in this manner shall be taken from the Pennsylvania markets.

In view of this declaration and after a consultation with the Secretary of Agriculture I have granted the request of the manufacturers and have fixed the time at which such goods shall be withdrawn as the first day of August, 1902. Suits

Their opinions were of this substance:

"The promised prosecution will be like that which Cope instituted against the traffic in oleo, a farce and a fake. How will he trace the embalmed stuff? How will he enforce his new order.

"Cope knows that the Meat Trust is the Oleo Trust. He won't do anything to hurt it.

"Why the delay until August? If the stuff is impure food and injurious to health, why not confiscate it in accordance with the law, which Cope and his men have taken an oath to enforce?

"It is a mere subterfuge to entice us to give up our fight against the impure product of the trust. Cope knows that the legislative conventions are the places where we will make our effort, and, by throwing us this sop he hopes to so placate us to let the August and September conventions go by default.

SHOULD PROSECUTE THE TRUST.

"If the provisions of the pure food law relating to impure meats are of service at any time, that time is surely the summer, when everything tends toward decay. Yet Cope's letter gives the dealers in embalmed beef almost all summer to dispose of their product. I say product advisedly. Cope himself uses the word manufacturers.

"According to his own statement, Cope has caught the trust redhanded in disposing of doctored meats. He has had correspondence with its members and they have acknowledged that the doctoring is unnecessary and injurious to health. Now, why does he not compel them to shut up shop at once and why does he not prosecute them?"

That the meats shipped East by the trust in either an embalmed or refrigerated condition are unwholesome is contended by chemists, physicians, meat dealers and by many householders who have paid attention to the subject.

BAD POLITICS IN LEBANON.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Editorially the Philiadelphia Press comments as follows on the way the machine managers conduct politics in Lebanon county:

"Every Republican in the State who wants to see fair play in the gubernatorial contest will deplore the conditions created in the politics of Lebanon county which practically forced the withdrawal of the Watres candidates for delegates. They cannot fail to prove injurious to party harmony.

The statements made in the circular issued by Lieutenant Governor Gobin's committee are such as to cause sober reflection. Of the four candidates for delegates in Colonel Watres' behalf originally registered but two remained at the time of the withdrawal. It is unreservedly charged that one candidate after another was "assailed with threats, promises and money." As General Gobin goes on to say, "a number of candidates have succumbed to the seductive blandishments or threats of future vengeance, and have withdrawn. Money, in sums ranging from $300 to $1,000, has been offered, as is susceptible of proof. The use of money for improper purposes is everywhere apparent in the work of a corrupt political machine."

These assertions are made by a no less responsible person than the Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth, a man of life-long experience in politics, whose Republicanism has never been impeached. The methods he describes are not such as should be employed in any county to aid the candidacy of one Republican and defeat that of another. It is not the way to ascertain the honest sentiment of the people. It is subversive of fair play and justice. Such methods have long been complained of, and more than once in the past nominations so obtained have been subsequently repudiated by the people. In this instance it has given General Gobin cause to say that "numbers of prominent Republicans have expressed their determination not to attend the primaries, reserving their right to vote in November in a manner to rebuke the tyranny, corruption and combined effort against fair play and decent politics."

General Gobin, who had taken charge of the Watres canvass, was himself the storm center, for in years of political activity he had naturally created antagonisms and made political enemies, as every man has. But he was not a candidate and opposition to him could not justify dishonest and corrupt means to deprive Colonel Watres of the right that should be conceded to every Republican to ascertain the honest and unobstructed sentiment of the party people as to his candidacy for any office for which he chooses to submit his name. It is not the individual who suffers in such case; it is the whole party.

When it is charged on the authority of the Lieutenant Governor of the State that crime has been resorted to to deprive a party candidate of a fair hearing the charge cannot go unheeded. Attorney General Elkin may well consider whether his managers in Lebanon have not given him a blow more staggering than any his opponents could have dealt.

THE HENRY OLEO BILL.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Referring to the Henry oleo bill pending in the U. S. Senate, the Pittsburg "Dispatch" editorially says:

"One of the supporters of the pending oleomargarine bill in the Senate tersely stated the only principle that should rule in this controversy—the protection of the public from the sale of a spurious article. The bill did not, he said, prohibit the sale of oleomargarine as oleomargarine. It simply provided that both butter and oleomargarine should be sold for what they are. Those who wished either product could thus be assured of getting what they wanted. The enactment of this principle into law can work no injury to anyone engaged in legitimate business. Nor can it injure any consumer, be he rich or poor so that the assertion that the bill would work hardship upon the poor may be dismissed as demagogic.

The reduction of the tax upon uncolored oleomargarine to one-quarter of a cent per pound and the imposition of a tax of 10 cents a pound upon oleo colored in resemblance of butter appear to be no more than is necessary to enforce the principle of the bill. The fact that the trade in oleomargarine now amounts to almost $35,000,000 a year shows the magnitude of competition with the butter product of the farm.

THE FARMERS NOT FOOLED.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The machine's latest attempt to fool the farmers is a sad failure. A special appropriation for an agricultural exhibit at Charleston was made by the Legislature, but the Gang thought it could put the money where it would do more good, and no steps were taken to represent the agricultural interests of the State. Four months after the opening of the Exposition and only two months beforeits close the machine seeks to placate the humbugged farmers by inviting the State Grange to take the responsibility of preparing a creditable display of farm products at an expense of $5000. Of course, it is impossible to make such an exhibit at this late day, and the Grange refuses to lend itself to the political thimble-rigging of Stone, Elkin and Hamilton.

The puerile scheme of the machine has served to direct public attention to the $5000, however, and Governor Stone's commission will not be able to absorb the money in the general expenses; as undoubtedly it would have done had it not conceived the brilliant idea of playing farmer politics with the appropriation.

WHY WE EAT SOME FOODS.

It Is Not Alone That We Like Them, but Nature Demands Them.

Why do you take milk in your tea? Most persons would answer because they liked it that way, but the scientists have found a deeper reason, placing the custom on purely scientific grounds. These learned ones discourse as follows: We use sugar in our tea to prevent injury to the coatings of our stomachs. Whenever tannic acid and albumen meet, they fall desperately in love with each other, get married without bans and live together ever afterward as tannate of albumen, or leather. Now, there is tannic acid in tea and a lot of albumen in the coating of the stomach. The tannic acid weds as much of this as is allowed by the laws of chemistry and so far injures the stomach.

But milk also contains albumen. When milk is added to tea, therefore, the molecules of tannic acid select their albumen partners from it, and as a divorce is unknown to tannate of albumen the albumen of the stomach remains single, and so the lining of the stomach is uninjured.

Now, you may imagine that when you mix a salad dressing you put vinegar in it because it tastes better made that way, but you are wrong again. It is for a chemical reason, which is as follows:

Raw vegetables are easily enough digested by cows and horses, but with difficulty by the human stomach, because they contain that hard, fibrous substance cellulose. But acids dissolve cellulose, and vinegar is an acid. That is why we take it with salad and cabbage, and doubtless that is why it tastes so well, for the palate is an excellent judge of what is good for the stomach. Oil is added for the very good reason that it protects the lining of the stomach from the action of the acid in the vinegar.

Why do we take butter on bread? Partly because wheaten flour does not contain enough fat and partly because butter contains a trifling quantity of substances called "extractives," which in some unknown way stimulate the appetite and aid digestion.

Why do we take pepper, mustard and spices? Because they tickle the glands of the stomach and make them work. Consequently they produce an abundant supply of digestive juices. They also stir up the liver, and a stirring up of this organ is an important thing for people who live sedentary lives.

Why do we put salt on our meat? Why, there are two principal salts in our body, and their supply has to be kept up. They are sodium salts and potassium salts. There is sufficient of the latter in the food we eat, but not of the former. We therefore have to add the sodium salts in the form of common salt, which is sodium chloride. Another reason why we eat common salt is that a certain amount of hydrochloric acid is needed by the stomach for the purposes of digestion and also to kill off some of the microbes we swallow. This acid is manufactured in the stomach from hydrogen and the chlorine of common salt. We take more salt with some meats than with others because some naturally contain less salt than others. So by our condiments we seek to even up things.—New York Press.

A Rainy Day In Japan.

In the houses, the streets and the gardens, the places of public resort, everywhere in Japan, is to be found the all pervading element of art and beauty. A rainy day in Japan is not as in London a day of gloom and horror, but a day of absolute fascination. What a joy is the spectacle of all those lovely yellow paper umbrellas unfurling themselves beneath a shower like flowers before the sun! The Japanese have given the nation not only the house beautiful, but the street beautiful.—"Japan; a Record In Color," by Mortimer Menpes.

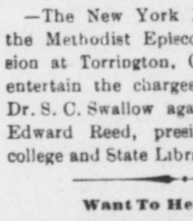
Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.



The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

FIRE PLAYS SAD HAVOC!

Great Conflagration at Atlantic City Thursday.

LOSS PLACED AT $750,000

Twelve Hotels and More Than a Score of Small Buildings Were Consumed by Flames Which Raged for Hours.

NAMES OF PRINCIPAL LOSERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 4.—Twelve hotels and more than a score of small buildings adjoining the boardwalk, which is built along the ocean edge, were destroyed yesterday by a fire which swept the beach front for two long blocks from Illinois avenue to New York avenue. The loss, it is believed, will exceed $750,000. In this respect the conflagration is the most disastrous that has ever visited this city. The loss will be only partly covered by insurance as the rate of 5 per cent. charged by insurance companies on property here is regarded as almost prohibitive. Fortunately no lives were sacrificed, though probably a dozen persons were slightly injured and burned during the progress of the fire. It was reported early in the afternoon that six men had perished in the flames, but the rumor was without foundation. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is said to have started in either Brady's baths or the Tarlton hotel, which adjoins the baths at Illinois avenue and the boardwalk.

The city last night was guarded by a company of militia who were requested by the municipal authorities to aid the police in the prevention of looting. About a dozen men were arrested during the day for robbery.

The hotels destroyed and their estimated losses are:

The Luray and Annex, the latter formerly known as the Norwood, owned by J. S. White & Son, $125,000; the New Holland, Mrs. M. J. Lee, $30,000; Stratford, Arnold W. Waldner, $40,000; Berkley, Bew Brothers, $50,000; Bryn Mawr, J. and E. Keffer, $25,000; Stickney, Mrs. L. K. Stickney, $20,000; Evard, James T. Gorman, $20,000, Rio Grand, J. P. Killpatrick, $30,000; Mervine, K. Eells, $20,000; Academy hotel and Academy of Music, Charles Fralinger, $25,000; Windsor, G. Jason Waters (partly destroyed), $25,000; Tarlton, G. Jason Waters, $20,000. Charles Keeler, who conducted a drug store on the boardwalk at Kentucky avenue, estimates his loss at $60,000, and Victor Freisinger, proprietor of an art store at St. James Place and the boardwalk, says his loss is $50,000. Other victims whose losses range from $5,000 to $10,000 are:

James A. Brady, bath house; David John, druggist; Nabass & Kazarr, oriental goods; Haines, florists, Shimamura & Co., Japanese novelties; Ching Hop Hing Chinese novelties, John H. Flett, art store; Patridge E. Richardson, millinery and dry goods; Women's Exchange; E. P. Quinn hair dresser; M. Moyer & Bro., jewelry; Richard Binder, barber.

In addition to the foregoing there were numerous other smaller booths and several cottages on minor thoroughfares in the rear of the boardwalk which were either partially or entirely destroyed.

The fire was discovered shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday and for nearly five hours the flames raged with such violence as to threaten the city with destruction. All the burned buildings were frame fanned by a strong southwest wind, swept along the beach front with amazing rapidity.

At the present time watchmen guard the infected house continually, and supplies are taken to a designated place regularly, while a skilled nurse is caring for the patients, none of whom are suffering more than is usual from the disease so dreaded. —Centre Hall Reporter.

GOOD NEWS FOR BELLEFONTE.

New Company Formed to Operate the Valentine Furnace—Expect to Start Up June 1st.

It will be most gratifying to the people of Bellefonte, and especially the business interests, to know that the Valentine iron furnace will soon be in full operation. The plant, so long idle, has been sold to Messrs. J. W. Gephart, F. H. Clemson, L. T. Munson, Archer Brown and William Sampson. These gentlemen have made application to the Governor of Pennsylvania for a charter and the operation will be conducted under the title of the Nittany Iron Company.

A large force of men is now at work on the plant and it is expected that the furnace will be in blast by June 1st. The new company will operate the several ore mines which have gone into their possession under the sale provisions and upwards of 600 men will be employed by the new company in the furnace plant and ore banks.

We believe that to Mr. J. W. Gephart belongs the credit of having negotiated the purchase of this furnace property and to him is due the thanks and praise of our people who will, with him and his associates, share in the benefits which will result from the resumption of the Valentine furnace and ore mines. We feel that we express the sentiment of the community in wishing for the new company abundant success and prosperity.

Hick's Forecast for April.

The reactionary disturbances progressing as March goes out will reach the Atlantic seaboard and disappear from the continent about April 2nd. fair and cooler weather having followed storm areas out of March from the northwest. Warmer weather, falling barometer and April squalls with lightening and thunder will touch most parts of the country, traveling eastward, from about the 5th to 9th, with chances that the moon's perigee on the 10th will prolong threatening conditions until after that date. Rising barometer with a dash of snow northward will end this period, bringing cold winds and fair weather progressively for two or three days.

The reactionary storm days central on the 11th and 12th lead into the Mercury disturbance, which extends from the 12th to the 22nd, being central on the 17th. On and touching the 11th and 12th, temperature, barometer and winds will tend to precipitation and storminess, with a possible change to cooler and fair, preceding the Vulcan period central on the 16th. But it is, as a rule, safe to count on much continued cloudiness with rain and drizzle all through the Mercury period at this season of the year. The most general and pronounced storms during the Mercury period, or perhaps during April, will occur during the Vulcan storm period, central on the 16th and extending from the 15th to the 19th, the 19th being the date on which the disturbance will reach a final culmination. During this Vulcan period ordinary April showers will widen and thicken into general rain and thunder storms, with possibly some severe and dangerous storms to the southward, or wherever storms are preceded by every warm, sultry atmosphere and low barometer. At the culminating stage of these storms, snow and sleet will be very probable results along the northern side of the country, ending in a high barometer and northerly gales that will send very cool weather, if not frost, far to the South. If results answering to the above should not appear at the Vulcan period, 15th to 19th the chances for the same will be greatly increased at the reactionary period and full moon, say about the 25th and 24th. If the temperature should rise very high, with south winds and falling barometer, very marked storms will result at this time. A cool wave, amounting to frosts northward, will appear from about the 23rd to 26th.

The storm chart shows that April goes out with a regular storm period in progress. About the 27th signs of this on coming period will slow in the west, the warm wave will move eastward, winds will shift to the south and blow around wide areas of low barometer, cloudiness will ensue and storms of rain and thunder will pass eastward from about the 28th to 30th, the month ending with cloudiness and precipitation over central to eastern parts of the country, and fair and cooler weather following up the storm from the west and north.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

Was the Concert Given in the Presbyterian Church by Mrs. Bonbright.

We feel safe in saying that never in the history of Bellefonte has there been a more delightful musical entertainment presented to our people than the Organ and Piano Recital in the Presbyterian church Thursday evening, under the direction of Mrs. Bonbright. She has had a chorus of thirty voices, comprising the finest musical talent of our town, who have been preparing for this event for the last month, and from the manner in which they rendered their parts was a surprise to all who were present, for with this number of singers there was not a break or hitch in the entire number of the choruses given.

Mrs. Bonbright, herself, played several selections on the organ, in which she showed to great advantage as a skillful performer, and her piano solos were beautiful. The Tone Picture, from Rubenstein, was realistic in the extreme, and the Gavotte, played by the left hand, was simply marvelous, showing wonderful talent and musical ingenuity.

Mr. George Ford appeared in four bass solos and as every one in the audience knew what to expect they were not disappointed. He is a great favorite among our music loving people and always comes up to our highest anticipations.

Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes rendered two delightful organ solos. She is not only a skillful musician, but has a most beautiful touch, and puts more genuine expression into her playing than anyone who has ever manipulated the keys of this fine organ.

The crowning event of the evening was the part taken by Miss Gehman, of Philadelphia, who is acknowledged as the leading contralto singer of that city. She came highly recommended but no one was prepared to hear such a voice. It was simply superb and captivated the audience from the beginning. Her voice has wonderful depth combined with the richest sweetness, and never has it been the writer's privilege to listen to its equal. She also is a violinist of great ability and favored the audience with two sections on that instrument.

Mrs. Bonbright is to be congratulated for having given our citizens this rich treat, and deserves great credit for the success of this entertainment.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Ellen Harlison, of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. Monsters and Microbes.

How the Microbe Would Appear If Magnified in Size to Correspond With Its Power.

The world has always believed in monsters—great dragons of the land, and huge serpents of the sea. As a rule these monsters have been fairly peaceable, and beyond frightening people occasionally, they have done little recorded harm. The real calamities of humanity have come from the smallest forms of life. The minute microbe has slain its millions upon millions. If this microscopic form of life were depicted in size and form equal to its danger and deadliness we should see a monster which would dwarf into insignificance all the monsters ever begotten by human imagination. The microbe has this in common with the fabled monster, its food is human flesh and its drink human blood. It battens on slaughter. For centuries medical science fought this microbic foe in darkness. The presence of the foe was recognized, its deadliness conceded. But it was ever an invisible foe, unknown and unnamed. To-day science with eye-power increased a million fold finds this lurking foe, knows it and names it.

FINDING THE FOE

is the first step, fighting it intelligently is the next. We know this minute organism lurks in the air we breathe, the food we eat, the water we drink. We know the object of attack is the blood. We know that as the microbe is bred from foulness it must be fed on foulness. Hence, we know that the microbe finds no lodgment in the body when the blood is pure. Keep the blood pure and you shut out the microbe.

When the blood is impure nature at once begins to show the red danger signals. Boils, blotches, pimples, eruptions begin to work upon the skin surface, as signs and symptoms of the corruption of the blood. When these or any signs of blood impurity appear, the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is confidently recommended as a most powerful and perfect blood-purifying medicine.

"I consider your 'Golden Medical Discovery' one of the best medicines on the face of the earth," writes Wm. Floeter, Esq., of Redoak, Montgomery Co., Iowa. "While in the south-west, three years ago, I got poisoned with poison Ivy. The poison settled in my blood and the horrors I suffered cannot be told in words. I thought I would go crazy. I could do nothing but scratch. I would go to sleep scratching, would wake up in the morning and find myself scratching. I scratched for eight months. Had it not been for your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I would be scratching yet. I tried different kinds of medicine, tried different doctors, but all the relief they could give me was to make my pocket-book lighter. I then began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Took four bottles without relief. Kept taking it. I took in all ten bottles and got entirely cured. I can say that if people would take your medicine instead of fooling with some of the quacks that infest both the small and large towns, disease would flee like chaff before the wind."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will absolutely drive out and eliminate the poisons which corrupt the blood.

BAD BLOOD AND GOOD HEALTH

cannot go together. But when the blood is purified and enriched by "Golden Medical Discovery," the result is recorded in sound health. Boils, blotches, pimples and other eruptions disappear as the impurities which caused them are removed. The skin is healthy, the flesh is firm. The dull and sluggish feeling is a thing of the past. The appetite is good, sleep is sound and refreshing and labor an enjoyment instead of a burden.

"It gives me much pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Miss Annie Wells, of Fergussons Wharf, Isle of Wight Co., Va. "I can say honestly and candidly that it is the grandest medicine ever compounded for purifying the blood. I suffered terribly with rheumatism, and pimples on the skin and swelling in my knees and feet so that I could not walk. I spent about twenty dollars paying doctors' bills but received no benefit. A year or two ago I was reading one of your Memorandum Books, and I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription,' and am entirely cured."

Of all prevalent forms of blood disease, scrofula is the most intractable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has a remarkable record of cures of scrofulous diseases; remarkable both in the number of cures and their variety as well as in the fact that these cures were effected many times in cases where all other treatment had proved utterly ineffectual.

"I cured my little girl's scrofula with your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,'" writes Mr. Eli Ashford of Raney, Hunt Co., Texas. "It has been four years since then, and there has not been any return of the disease."

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Why does a dealer sometimes try to sell a substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, claiming it is "just as good?" Is it for the customer's benefit? It can't be. If the two medicines are equal in merit there's no advantage to the purchaser in an even exchange. The medicines are not equal in merit, and the reason for selling a substitute is only because the less meritorious medicine puts a little more profit into the dealer's pocket. His gain is the customer's loss.

Blow Your Own Horn.

It is seldom that the DAILY NEWS indulges in self-praise but we do feel a pardonable pride in some of the achievements of the past ten days and we hope our readers will pardon us this once while we call attention to them.

In the first place, our account of the proceedings of the Conference was the best and most complete and satisfactory of any published, with no exceptions. For this our thanks are due to Rev. W. F. D. Noble, our Conference reporter. We published more pictures, three times over, of Conference celebrities than any other paper.

Our accounts of the Swallow trial were accurate and unbiased, even if we did excite the ire of Conference so far as to lead them to pass a resolution demanding the source of our information.

Ours was the first paper to publish the charges, which were given in full, of Dr. Silas C. Swallow against Dr. George Edward Reed, the State Librarian and President of Dickinson College.

The Conference appointments were not announced until noon on Wednesday and no one could get a list for love or money, yet the DAILY NEWS was on the streets of Bellefonte with a full and complete list of Conference appointments within five hours after that body had adjourned sine die, a feat that any city paper might be proud of.

But that is not all. Its published interviews with Dr. Swallow and Bishop Walden have excited wide comment and its fairness in giving both sides in regard to the Bishop's rulings will be appreciated by all Methodists and the public at large.

Last, but not least, the DAILY NEWS was the first to publish to the people of Bellefonte the good news that the Valentine furnace, so long idle, would soon resume operations giving employment to six hundred wage earners in this vicinity. —Daily News.

MILLHEIM NEWS.

The horse sale of Emanuel Reed, on last Friday, was not largely attended but buyers were plenty. The following bought horses, viz: N. C. Lose 2, D. D. Royer 2, Len Hackenburg 2, S. E. Roesman 2, and the following each 1: N. H. Wilkinson, Thomas Decker, T. C. Bower, H. G. Stover, Samuel Strohecker, Frank Shultz, Henry Keen, John Beck, Henry Dunkelbarger, A. F. Thompson, G. O. Furman, James F. Talley and J. R. Schrack; average price $152.47; W. F. Smith, auctioneer.

Alexander McCoy, of Potter's Mills; H. C. Wallace, of Huntingdon; Wm. Fuoss, of Tyrone; A. F. Markel, State College; W. C. Kerstetter and T. A. Weaver, of Rote, and Thomas D. Decker, of State College, took in the horse sale.

The public sale of the household goods of B. F. Nearhood was not largely attended last Saturday and everything sold cheap.

Randall Musser, student at State College, spent the Easter holidays at his home here.

C. H. Morris, the druggist, moved to Duncannon last week. This is an excellent opening for a drug store and it is hoped that some one will come here. It will be very inconvenient for our people to be without a drug store. A good room can be had.

Ed. Winters, the small-pox patient, is getting along all right. It is the only case. The board of health has taken all the precaution possible to prevent the spread of the disease and people need have no fear of coming here.

There was quite a fall of the beautiful Monday and the harbingers of Spring were a little premature.

G. W. Diehl, of Mifflinburg, was in town Monday.

J. H. Dreese, of McClure, had business here this week.

A Chattanooga Druggist's Statement

Robt. J. Miller, Proprietor of the Read House Drug Store of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "There is more merit in Foley's Honey and Tar than in any other cough syrup. The calls for it multiply wonderfully and we sell more of it than all other cough syrups combined." C. M. Parrish.

Old Saws and Sayings.

A few old sayings on the subject of food come to us rather as a surprise in our age of daintiness and refinement, yet they have their raison d'etre notwithstanding. "Meat is much; manners are more;" "Cease your chatter and mind your platter;" "The ass that brays most eats least;" "The wing with the liver to him who's the giver;" "He can give little to his servant who licks his own trencher."

Apropos of this remark, it is amusing to note that "manners" was the name given to the remnants of a meal. These came to the servants as official perquisites; hence our well worn expression before emptying a dish, "Leave the last slice (or whatever it may be) for manners," though if votes were collected on this point it is hardly likely that any of us would have taken it as it stands in the original.

No Thanks Due.

A minister went from Kansas City down into the country to preach. Before going into the pulpit he asked if any one interrupted with "amens" and other ejaculations, as he could not stand such interjections. He was told of one old woman who always made herself heard at all good points. She was asked on this occasion to desist, and she obliged for once. At the end of the sermon the minister met her and warmly thanked her for holding her tongue.

"No need to thank me, no need to thank me!" she exclaimed. "You said nothing whatever to make me shout!" —Kansas City Independent.

Shot In His Left Leg.

For all kinds of sores, burns, bruises, or other wounds DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a sure cure. Skin diseases yield to it at once. Never fails in cases of piles, cooling and healing. None genuine but DeWitt's. Beware of counterfeits "I suffered for many years from a sore caused by a gun shot wound in my left leg," says A. S. Fuller, English, Ind. "It would not heal and gave me much trouble. I used all kinds of remedies to no purpose until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes completely cured me." C. M. Parrish.

Married.

At the Evangelical parsonage, Clintondale, on the 31st of March by Rev. J. M. Price, Thomas W. Orr, of Walker, to Miss Sarah A. Weaver, of Hublersburg, both of Centre County.

One application gives relief. Dr. Agew's Ointment is a boon for itching piles, or blind, bleeding piles. It relieves quickly and permanently. In skin eruptions it stands without a rival. Thousands of testimonials if you want evidence. 35 cents.—12

ARTISTS' BLUNDERS.

Some Odd Mistakes That Have Been Perpetuated on Canvas.

In a letter from an artist and art writer of London he speaks of the absurd mistakes made by some of the old masters. In the very pretentious and also very large portrait of Queen Victoria executed by Benjamin Constant the well known French artist painted the ribbon of the Order of the Garter of a wrong color, and the artist was much chagrined by the evidence of his own carelessness. Queen Victoria told him he was using the wrong color, but he was not convinced.

There is a landscape by a famous English painter in which a rainbow is depicted behind the sun, and a picture of Eden is in the gallery of the Gesu, in Lisbon, where Adam and Eve are represented as watching a procession of monks.

In the famous galleries of Antwerp are certain pictures by old masters in which the jumble of ideas is as remarkable as the technique is fine. In one picture of heaven the archangels are armed with bows and arrows, and in a painting of the "Murder of the Innocents" the massacre is represented as taking place in a city of Holland. The parents of the children are stout burghers, the Roman soldiers are Dutch policemen armed with muskets, and the innocent infants are transformed into solid schoolboys in bulgy trousers and jackets and hobnailed shoes. The effect is droll.

Things He Didn't Understand.

At the table on an incoming liner on a recent trip one of the first cabin passengers found in an oyster one of the tiny seed pearls which look almost exactly like bird shot. Apparently the formation of pearls was a mystery to him, for he examined the thing curiously, picked it up gingerly and laid it on the tablecloth for further investigation.

Now, it is a habit of cooks at sea to carry fishhooks in their pockets, and on this trip, by a curious coincidence, part of a small hook got caught in a piece of beefsteak that was served to this particular passenger. As soon as his knife encountered the hard object he started, picked it out carefully and laid it beside his other find on the cloth.

Then he beckoned to the waiter and confidentially whispered in his ear. "I don't want to be impertinent," he said, "but would you mind telling me where you shoot your oysters and why you catch your steaks with a hook and line?"—New York Post.

Famous Abductions.

Marriage by abduction was by no means uncommon in the early ages. The daughter of the king of Argus was abducted by a Phœnician. The Greeks carried off Europa from Tyre and Medea from Colchis.

Next to the abduction of the fair Helen, perhaps the most remarkable in its political consequences was the King of Leinster's taking away of the wife of a neighboring petty sovereign, O'Rourke of Breffni.

The king of Connaught avenged the insult and drove from the throne his brother of Leinster, who appealed to Henry II. of England for aid to recover his lost sovereignty. The Norman conquest of Ireland followed, with long centuries of war and devastation.

Eyes and Nose Ran Water.

C. G. Archer, of Brewer, Maine, says: "I have had catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose for days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and since using the wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. It relieves in ten minutes." 50 cents.—9

Hiawatha.

"Such a confusing variance in the pronunciation of 'Hiawatha' exists both in dictionaries and in the speech of educated men and women," writes Elizabeth A. Withey in The Ladies' Home Journal, "that I have asked Miss Longfellow how the word is pronounced by the poet's family. She says the pronunciation which she always heard from the poet himself is Hi-a-wa-tha, the 'i' pronounced as it is in 'machine' or 'pique,' the second 'a' pronounced as it is in 'far' or in 'father.'"

All In the Family.

"Biffley and his son and the Widow Binglewood and her daughter are going to form a community of interests."

"How so?"

"Biffley marries the widow, and his son marries the daughter."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Taste In Refurnishing.

"Bigson says he has had his house refurnished during his wife's absence."

"As a surprise to her?"

"No; as a shock."—Detroit Free Press.

As the busy season of farm work opens, do not neglect your duty to attend your Grange meetings. It is essential to an economical management of farm affairs. As an instance recently four Granges in Centre county saved $75,00 in money by buying there clover seed through a Grange arrangement. Had there been no Grange the middleman would have made the $75.-00, and just so in other transaction. By taking a few hours every two weeks to attend Grange you may reap these benefits.

A Veteran's Story.

George Lewis, of Shamokin, Pa., writes: "I am eighty years of age. I have been troubled with catarrh for fifty years and in my time have used a great many catarrh cures, but never had and relief until I used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. One box cured me completely.'—50 cents. —13

Kodol Digests what you Eat
Dyspepsia Cure
People once thought that the only way to cure indigestion was to stop eating. The trouble with such treatment is, that to stop eating is to stop living. KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE has changed the whole method of treating this complaint. It contains all the natural digestive fluids and digests all you eat without aid from the stomach, so you can eat all the good food you want and be cured of your trouble at the same time.
"I have been troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia for several years and often sat down to eat but had to give it up after eating only two bites. I used two bottles of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE and am alright to-day. Can now eat anything I want. W. L. Easton, Audubon, Iowa."
It can't help but do you good
Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1. bottle contains 2½ times the 50c. size.

Death of Mrs. John Flack.

On Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock the angel of death called from this world to the world where there is no more pain or sorrow, Mrs. Lucretia Flack, wife of John Flack, of near Bellefonte. She had been a sufferer for some time past, having had several paraletic strokes which were the final cause of death. Her age was 49 years, 6 months and 22 days.

Mrs. Flack was a very kind neighbor and would do very cheerfully any favor for her neighbors and she will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

The following children survive: Mrs. Lizzie Sommers, of Potters Bank; Mrs. Bertha Finley, of Punxsutawney; Nelson, of Milton; Edward, Lillie, Willis, Clara and Laura, at home.

A father and three sisters also survive. The sisters are Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. Henry Young and Mrs. David Flack, all of Bellefonte.

Mrs. Flack was a christian lady and a member of the Evangelical church of of Bellefonte. The funeral will take place this afternoon, Rev. W. H. Brown, officiating, Interment in the Union cemetery.

OUR BOROUGH COUNCIL.

What Transpired at Their Semi-Monthly Session Monday Evening.

The Borough council met Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock with President Reynolds presiding and the following members present:

Messrs. Potter, Garrity, Whittaker, Cunningham, Derstine and Kirk.

Citizens asked that the foot-bridges, one near the old car works and one near the round house, which were washed away by the flood, be replaced as soon as possible.

The Street committee reported many bad pavements in different parts of town. It was moved that the owners be given ten days to repair same or Borough would do so at owner's expense.

The report of the Borough Treasurer was as follows:

The Water committee has decided to purchase the new water wheel and pump. They believe that this will be a big saving in coal bills to the borough.

Councilman Cunningham threw out the startling suggestion that enough power could be secured from the spring itself to run the water wheel and keep the town supplied with water without buying an ounce of coal. The Water committee, however, did not altogether agree with Mr. Cunningham.

The Street committee was authorized to rebuild the foot-bridges washed away by the flood.

Mr. Potter called attention to the fact that a party of Buffalo merchants and business men would be in Bellefonte Tuesday from 12:30 until 1 p. m. They are traveling in a special train and visiting different towns in the state. President Reynolds, who will be absent from town Tuesday, appointed Mr. Potter to act in his stead and to head a delegation of councilmen who should meet the visitors and offer them every courtesy possible.

Borough Solicitor Fortney offered an opinion in which it was set forth that the water funds should be kept separate from the borough funds, and that the water department should be made to pay for itself. He did not think it necessary to appoint a collector to collect water tax alone, as he thought the present plan cheaper and just as practicable. He strongly urged that council levy a tax rate high enough to cover all necessary expenses without overdrawing, and that at present expenses be cut down as much as possible.

The following bills were approved and ordered paid:

A C Mingle, rubber boots	$ 3.00

Buffalo Merchants in Bellefonte.

A special train load of Buffalo merchants tarried in Bellefonte Tuesday from 12:30 until about 1:20. Their special train consisted of three Pullman parlor cars and one dining car, all fitted up in the most sumptuous style.

There were seventy members of the Association on the train. They were greeted at the station by a committee headed by Burgess Blanchard and Councilman George L. Potter, who extended to them every courtesy possible.

The excursion left Buffalo on Monday over the Pennsylvania railroad, running southeast as far as Lock Haven; thence southwest to Pittsburg, thence northwest to New Castle, and thence northeast to Buffalo, covering about fifty towns and cities within this radius. The expense of transportation for this trip was only $2.00, covering approximately a thousand miles and six days' travel.

New Y. M. C. A., Building Dedicated at Eagleville.

The recently completed one story Y. M. C. A. frame building at Eagleville was dedicated Sunday. Several addresses were delivered, one of which was given by General Secretary Smith, of Lock Haven. The building was erected mostly by the hands of the young men of the town. It cost $1,300 nearly all of which has been raised. The building has a game room, and areading room, both of which can be thrown into a gymnasium when desired. Baths and other equipments will be put in soon. The association has a membership of about 100.

RECEPTION TO J. W. GEPHART.

Citizens of Bellefonte Enthusiastically Welcome Him Home.

J. Wesley Gephart, who returned from New York city Saturday evening, after successfully completing negotiations by which the Valentine furnace is soon to be put in operation, received an enthusiastic greeting by his fellow-citizens as he stepped from the train at the P. R. R. depot. The streets about the station were densely packed with people who cheered lustily.

Mr. Gephart, who was much surprised by this unexpected demonstration, was met by a committee headed by Burgess Blanchard, who escorted him to an awaiting carriage and headed by the Coleville band the procession proceeded to Mr. Gephart's residence on East Linn street. A brilliant display of fire works marked the route of parade from the station to Mr. Gephart's home.

From the porch of Mr. Gephart's residence brief remarks were made by Burgess Blanchard, Judge Love and Mr. Gephart. The Burgess was the first speaker, briefly outlining the object of the gathering, explaining that it was purely informal in character and the spontaneous outburst of the citizens of the town in gratitute to Mr. Gephart for what he has done and is doing for the welfare and prosperity of Bellefonte.

Judge Love was the next speaker. He spoke in the highest terms of praise of Mr. Gephart who, though frail physically, had done so much by his pluck and energy for the upbuilding of Bellefonte. He spoke also of the match factory, the glass works and the scale works and what they were doing for our town and said that if all our capitalists, business men and citizens in general would pull together with Mr. Gephart that this might be made "one of the finest little manufacturing cities in the Union."

Mr. Gephart received a hearty greeting as he stepped forward to respond. He thanked the citizens for this demonstration of their appreciation and encouragement. He said the greatest satisfaction that had come to him was when he was able to sit down and draw checks for a pay-roll. The products of the Bellefonte furnace have been sent to San Francisco, to Maine and even around Cape Horn. The money has been received here, passed through the company's bank account and paid out to the wage-earners of Bellefonte and Centre county. This was a great satisfaction to him. He said that the Bellefonte furnace and the new Nittany furnace would be, he believed, among the steady industries of the town for years to come.

DEATH OF ROBERT McCALMONT.

Sudden Ending of the Career of One Who Was Prominently Identified With the Lime Industry.

The community received quite a shock when the news became broad cast of the sudden death of Robert McCalmont, which sad event occurred Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock at his home on North Thomas street.

Mr. McCalmont, although he had not been in the best of health for some time past, yet was able to be about the streets up to a few hours of his death. He was up town all day Monday and seemed to be as well as usual. In the evening he came up town to attend to some business, but about 9 o'clock was suddenly taken ill and had to be conveyed to his home.

He soon lapsed into unconsciousness and gradually sank away until death ended his earthly career at the above mentioned time. The cause of death was congestion of the brain.

Robert McCalmont was born on the old McCalmont farm at Jacksonville 61 years ago on the 2nd of last January. He was the son of James McCalmont.

He was engaged in farming up to about fifteen years ago when with others he became associated with the late William Shortlidge in the firm of McCalmont & Co., manufacturers of limd ane dealers in coal, grain etc. This firm was quite successful and this past winter they sold their lime interests to the American Lime and Lime Stone Company.

Mr. McCalmont, who was a bachelor, is survived by two sisters and one brother namely, Miss Jane McCalmont and Mrs. William Shortlidge, of this place, and James McCalmont, of State College.

The funeral took place this morning at 9.30 o'clock from his late residence on North Thomas street. The interment will be at Jacksonville.

Singing by the Seneca Indians.

A largely attended and very enjoyable Gospel Song service was held in the Methodist church at Milesburg Sunday evening. The Presbyterian and Baptists united in the service which was conducted by Missioner Crittenden assisted by the Seneca Indians. The audience was greatly delighted by the service. The Seneca Indians with Mr. Crittenden are certainly noble men and the Indians sang very sweetly especially in the Seneca language.

They also sang in the Reformed church here at the morning service and at the Episcopal Sunday school. They were greatly appreciated at both places.

We are glad to know that they are much encouraged in the effort they are making to build two chapels in places that greatly need them. May God prosper them in this work.
